

Reflecting on participation in activities in Japan

November 5th – 11th 2024

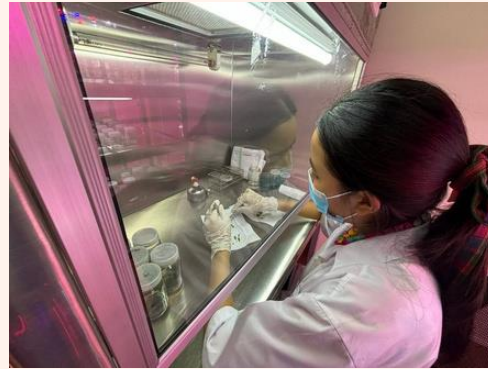

1. I received kindness and good friendship throughout the study visit and mutual learning exchange.
2. I learned about organizing teaching and learning activities that promote desirable qualities, as well as learning that enhances the roles of leadership and followership in real-world contexts.
3. I gained ideas and inspiration to develop and continue improving the quality of students, teachers, and schools for sustainable growth.
4. I also built a professional network of teachers to drive and advance education in a broad and diverse way."
