

[ REFLECTION ]

<9 February 2025 Online>

- Deepened understanding of the general situation in Thailand and the school education system.
- It has given me an opportunity to think about my attitude towards cross-cultural understanding and mindset for international cooperation.

<16-21 February 2025 Thailand>

- Diversity in education

By visiting different types of schools, I learnt about the diversity of education in Thailand (STEM education, inquiry program, vocational training, inclusive education and non-formal education).

- Education policy 'Happy Learning'

It includes overarching goals such as 'improving the learning environment' and 'improving happiness and wellbeing', as well as moving away from cramming, and I strongly felt that the concept of Happy is needed in education in Japan, which is facing the same challenges.

[Action plan]

'Project to promote international exchange between Japan and Thailand'

<Objective> 'Connecting differences'.

Creating opportunities to grow together as an actor to realise a better world for the young generations of both Japan and Thailand.

<Activities> 'Learning beyond your own boundaries'

- Exchange with students from Thailand

Promotion of mutual understanding through cultural experiences (e.g. cooking, ethnic dress, dance)

- Japan-Thailand collaborative inquiry class "Towards achieving the SDGs".

Conducting exploratory activities on social issues facing both countries (e.g. 'education', 'health', 'community development', etc.)

SUSTAINABLE DEVELOPMENT GOALS
